Presenter notes for “Which side will you choose” - Slide #8

SLIDE INTENT: Information sharing

Opening statement: So which side will you choose?

Say: This idea, Cross The Line, really connected with me. I see how we can use it in so many ways ... here at work and even in our personal lives. I'm hoping it connects with all of us.

Say: In a moment, we're going to go over the four things we need to do to cross the line but first let's talk about some of our lines ... our hurdles ... and those perceived walls we face.

Transition: First ... the lines.

Presenter notes for “Choose to commit” - Slide #16

SLIDE INTENT: Information sharing

Opening statement: How do we Cross The Line?

Say: First, we choose to commit. We make a choice to go beyond mediocrity ... work as usual ... and good enough ... and instead we work with the intent to deliver and to succeed.

Presenter Note: If possible, pull from the discussions about the particular lines your team wants to cross and tie them in with an example. Your focus at this point is on the choice to commit to Crossing The Line, not on identifying or solving the challenges which might come up.

Example: For the new product line for hospitals, we choose that we're going to approach our work with the intent to deliver on time.

Example: For getting the backlog of cases down to one week, we choose that we're going to work to deliver on time even if that new system is not up and running.

Transition: It's the starting point ... choosing to commit.

Presenter notes for “Commit, Work Hard, Focus, Bounce Back” - Slide #24

OPTIONAL SLIDE INTENT: Discussion (use this slide as a backdrop for your continued discussion)

Opening statement: Let's talk about what {[this, Crossing The Line]} can mean for us as a {[team, group, department, school, hospital]}.

Presenter Note: Please pull the discussion questions from your guide (page 41) that you feel will best serve your group ... the ones you feel will get people thinking and generate the best interaction.

Be sure to read the discussion tips in the guide (page 40) beforehand and please remember, you don't need to use all of the questions. Also, be sure to thank and validate people who share.

Example: Thanks for sharing that, Bob. Nice contribution.

Closing: Thanks everyone. I think we had some valuable discussion. Our success with keeping this alive will depend primarily on each of us holding ourselves accountable to these points and supporting each other when things get difficult. That's it really. We each need to do our best to lead by example and support each other. I'll help you and you help me and I think nothing but good will come from it. I'm excited to see the results. Let's get started!

Presenter Note: Remember to lead by example and Cross The Line.
